

Casey O'Toole, Second Round 67, aggregate total -4

Q. So how does it feel to be a millionaire?

A. It feels good! I don't know how far one million points goes, but I've stayed in some pretty bad hotels in Asia over the past few years, so it'll be very nice to stay in some Hilton hotels instead.

Q. What brings you out here to Asia?

A. I think guys like Peter Uihlein and Brooks Koepka inspired a lot of Americans to try their luck in other parts of the world. Back home in America there are lots of mini Tours you can play on, but none of them really lead anywhere. So I decided to come over to Asia and play on the Development Tour, and it's gone well for me so far.

Q. Have you embraced the lifestyle?

A. Yeah, I live in Bangkok for ten months of the year, and I really like it. It's great to visit different places and experience all the different cultures.

Q. Talk us through the hole in one then...

A. It was 193 yards, which is a stock seven iron for me. It looked good the whole way, took one bounce and then hopped straight in the cup. I didn't see it go in, but when I heard the yells I realised what had happened. It's my first in competition, I'd heard four or five in total, but all the others were in practice. So this is the first one that really counts.

Q. And you now have a hotel room for the night...

A. Yeah, which is great because I didn't have one! I wasn't sure I was going to get in the tournament when I booked my hotel, so I was supposed to check out today. Hopefully I can now upgrade to the Hilton.
